

"A INTERNACIONALISTA" CALL FOR PAPERS 2025

Dear researcher,

We really appreciate your interest in our academic journal. Your participation is extremely important for our project and for Brazilian academia as a whole. When reading this notice, we ask that you pay attention to all the points highlighted to avoid any complications in the process of submitting your work. We are available to answer any questions or queries that may arise during the process. Once again, thank you for considering our journal as a space for disseminating your research.

FROM THE JOURNAL:

It is with great pleasure that we present the undergraduate journal of the Laboratório de Análise Internacional Bertha Lutz: "A Internacionalista". Our aim is to democratize access to knowledge and learning in International Relations by offering a publishing platform for undergraduate articles so that they have greater visibility on the Brazilian and international scene. Our editorial team believes that a diversity of opinions and perspectives is fundamental to covering the multiplicity of what is produced and debated in International Relations. As such, our publications cover a variety of themes and approaches, from international politics to human rights issues, the environment and technology. In addition to promoting access to knowledge and learning, our editorial project aims to guide undergraduate students at the University of São Paulo's Institute of International Relations and members of LAI Bertha Lutz on how to produce a scientific project in a scene that is not very democratized and still needs improvement. With this, we hope to contribute to the development of research in International Relations in Brazil and around the world.

THE CHARACTERISTICS OF THE JOURNAL AND THE PUBLICATION:

The journal seeks academic articles that address relevant issues in the field of international relations, with an emphasis on contemporary debates and multidisciplinary perspectives. Unpublished papers will be accepted in Portuguese, English or Spanish, provided they follow the journal's formatting and reference rules.

We particularly encourage contributions to the Dossier "Climate change and international relations: impacts of the environmental crisis on the world stage".

The deadline for submitting contributions is July 14, 2025.

1. Articles may deal with topics such as international politics, climate governance, security, international law, global economics, international cooperation, as well as other relevant topics. Innovative and critical approaches will be valued, as well as papers that present empirical data and consistent methodologies.

2. A Internacionalista is an academic publication in the field of international relations and offers authors a space to disseminate their research in an environment of high quality and academic rigor. Selected articles will be published in digital format and will be widely disseminated in academic and scientific circles. Previous editions can be accessed free of charge at: <https://laibl.com.br/edicoes-anteriores/>

3. Authors interested in submitting their articles must SUBMIT THEIR WORKS BY THE DEADLINE SET IN THE PUBLIC NOTICE, ACCOMPANIED BY A BRIEF BIOGRAPHY AND AN ABSTRACT OF THE ARTICLE. The papers will be evaluated by an editorial committee made up of experts in the field of international relations. The results will be announced by e-mail at a later date.

A Internacionalista therefore invites researchers and academics in the field of international relations to participate in this call for papers, contributing to the academic debate and the development of the field of IR studies.
